Thankyou for choosing PsychLab. Before we provide services to your child, here are the things you need to know and consent to.

Our Services

We provide psychological services that improve the health and wellbeing of children. This can include psychological training, therapy, and assessment. As an organisation that provides services to children, we strive to uphold the National Principles for Child Safe Organisations as recommended by a Royal Commission into child safety.

As with any services, there are benefits, risks, and alternatives. The main benefit to psychological services is gaining insight and skills into thoughts, emotions, and behaviours. This can create improved emotional wellbeing, better stress management, enhanced relationships, greater self-awareness, and coping strategies for challenges. Therapy can lead to meaningful personal growth.

While our services are evidence based, and generally safe and effective, there are some potential risks. Risks may include temporary emotional discomfort, longer treatment time than expected, treatment failure, dependency on the clinician, and changes in relationships or life direction that can be challenging. Sometimes, clients may feel misunderstood or dissatisfied with the process.

Alternatives to our services include evidence-based self-help strategies, support groups, medication prescribed by a GP or psychiatrist, lifestyle changes, or complementary therapies. You are encouraged to discuss these options with your healthcare provider to determine the most suitable approach for your needs.

Your Rights and Responsibilities

All staff and contractors at PsychLab practice under the Australian Health Practitioner Regulation Agency's Code of Conduct for Psychologists. Essentially, this means that you can expect to be provided safe, effective and collaborative psychological services. You should be respected equally regardless of your background and beliefs. If you are unhappy with the services provided, please let us know straight away. You can talk to any human working here, or email feedback@psychlab.com.au. If you are unable to let us know, or the issue is not resolved, you can notify the Office of the Health Ombudsman (<http://www.oho.qld.gov.au>).

You and your child's participation is voluntary. If you do choose to access our services, you are responsible for attending scheduled appointments, engaging in therapy, communicating respectfully, and informing the treating professional about circumstances or changes that affect your child's wellbeing and treatment. You are responsible for payment of the fees associated with the services we provide to your child.

You are responsible for knowing your parenting responsibilities and whether you are able to consent to health treatment on behalf of your child. You are responsible for notifying other adults with parental responsibility, and providing them with PsychLab's contact details, so that they can participate in your child's treatment. If there are consent or parenting orders in place, you are responsible for providing them to PsychLab.

Your Information

We collect, record, create, and communicate your personal information only when it is reasonably necessary to provide services to you. For example, we collect information such as your name, contact information, medical history, referrer details, and healthcare cards. We create case notes and reports. We may communicate this information to referrers, such as your General Practitioner (GP), and stakeholders such as your case manager for insurance schemes. We keep your information securely and in confidence, in accordance with our Privacy Policy, which you can request to see. We use de-identified information, such as outcome measures, to help us with quality improvement. We only release your information when it required by law or safety, for example, to facilitate emergency service provision.

Many of our experienced clinicians are contractors responsible for maintaining their files. Some of our service delivery includes use of third-party products and services. We check that third-party providers' policies align with Australian health and privacy standards, or standards that are comparable to this. Third-party products include our email and communication platforms, clinic management software, assessment administration and scoring, notes transcription, and accounting software.

Fees, Payment, and Cancellation

We will usually tell you what the fees are when you book the appointment. Our full fee schedule is available on request or at www.psychlab.com.au/clinic-and-supervision.html. We charge cancellation fees for late cancellations (≤ 24 hours) if we cannot refill the spot. If 2 appointments are missed without prior notice, we will cancel future appointments. Rebooking will require management approval.

Research and Training

If you are seeing a provisional psychologist or allied health assistant, their work must be overseen by a psychologist supervisor. They must use de-identified client cases for supervision and competency assessment. Their supervisor must sit in on selected sessions or observe recordings of the sessions. Supervisors adhere to the same Code of Conduct, including confidentiality standards. Otherwise, for non-provisional psychologists, if you would like to allow us to use your information for supervision, training, or research purposes, then you can additionally consent to this below.

I have read and understood the information provided to me including the fees and cancellation policy. I agree to service provision for my child under these terms and conditions.

Where appropriate, telephone or videoconferencing can be used to provide psychological services. You are responsible for the costs of the technology you use to connect to phone and internet services. To access telehealth consultations, you will need access to a quiet, private space, and the appropriate device. This may include a smartphone, laptop, iPad, computer, with a camera, microphone and speakers; and a reliable broadband internet connection.

The privacy of any form of communication via the internet is potentially vulnerable and limited by the security of the technology used. To support the security of your personal information this practice uses Cliniko which is compliant with the Australian standards for online security and encryption.

If videoconference is unsuitable, or connection becomes unstable, your psychologist will contact you via telephone and make 1 attempt to re-engage. If contact is unable to be re-established, please call PsychLab on 0413 676 689 and your communication will be returned during business hours as soon as possible.

Paperwork must be completed two business days prior to your initial appointment. If your intake form is not completed within a reasonable time prior to your appointment, then we may not be able to provide the consultation.

Limitations of telehealth

A telehealth consultation may be subject to limitations such as an unstable network connection which may affect the quality of the psychology session. In addition, there may be some services for which telehealth is not appropriate or effective. Your psychologist will consider and discuss with you the appropriateness of ongoing telehealth sessions.

Your telehealth psychologist is not available outside of booked appointments. If you need to speak with someone outside of hours, Beyond Blue run a 24hr phone line with qualified counsellors (1300 22 4636).
